Fee Bands

In the Enrolment Form you will be asked to state which category you come under that best matches your financial situation. Invoicing will then happen accordingly and can be amended yearly if necessary. Those that come under Band A will be helping the school receive the extra support it needs to cover the real costs of its provision. The family income stated in the fee schedule is an approximate indication to those who can potentially afford more to give more. However, we are aware that financial circumstances vary, and that those on the cusp of the band who also have more than one child may not fall under Band A fees. If this is the case please let us know your situation.

Flexi-schooling

Inwoods supports part-time attendance for its curricular and pastoral benefits to the child, but unfortunately it can no longer support it financially with the current standard of provision and staffing. It costs the school the same amount whether a child attends three days or five days, and as there is a limited capacity of places to fill, it cannot absorb these costs with larger numbers. The number of days you would like your child to attend will be arranged in discussion with the Headteacher and relevant teaching staff, and we will continue to guide your child's educational experience on the days not attending if desired.

Bursaries

Our aim is to embrace families from a wide range of income backgrounds, who are seriously interested in the ethos of the school and the shared responsibility of their child's education. If you feel Inwoods would be the right place for your child, but are unable to meet the fees, it is always worth talking to us. Preference for bursaries is given to returning children and there are no full bursaries granted. Bursaries are only granted for one academic year at a time, but where the criteria for assistance are continuing to be met and funding is available, The Bursary Committee endeavours to continue to provide assistance from year-to-year.

Lunches and Snacks

Lunches are provided three times a week and snacks every day. Snacks and lunches each term will be calculated according to the days in the week your child attends. The cost of lunch for the Autumn Term 2017 will be £2.60 and snack will be 75p. A term's notice will be given to you if this cost is likely to increase.

Deposits

Inwoods also requires a refundable deposit of £850. On leaving the school, you will be able to choose to have your deposit refunded providing proper notice has been given in writing (at least 1 full term in advance) and there are no outstanding debts. Alternatively, you may like to donate all or part of it towards building up the school's bursary fund which would support children who for financial reasons might have to leave Inwoods. The deposit is payable on enrolment and will ensure that a place is available for your child.

School Fees are non-refundable. We regret that there can be no reduction to fees, lunches or snacks due to illness or holidays during school terms.
